Do You Like Winning?

Everyday gaming is fun, but a big issue with the dynamic of current gaming culture is a matter of recognition and reward. Gamers may gain points in-game (xp, etc), but what value do these points have; what badge of honor do these gamers wear? Unfortunately, that is a big issue with modern-day gaming. Many video game users spend countless dollars on upgrading their in-game performance, and the gaming community lacks a system that rewards and ranks users over a variety of different games. With the becoming of virtual reality and the metaverse, a universal gaming currency and platform needs to be in place to suit the needs of competitive gamers.

DubCoin Platform

With DubCoin, winners are recognized and receive tangible rewards in the form of DeFi coin. Winners will be highlighted on the DubCoin Leaderboards. DubCoin holds a utility that is not only engaging for competitors, but for onlookers as well.

The DubCoin Platform will include tournament registry, special coin utility, leaderboards, and more.

DubCoin Entertainment will provide a new and enhanced framework for gaming content creators and viewers; this will include property to be purchased within the metaverse for sport-like events.

Tokenomics

The economy of DubCoin is largely dependent on the utility of the coin. DubCoin will be used to compete or sponsor a competitor in gaming tournaments. Winner(s) of the tournament(s) will be paid out from the DubCoin prize pool.

There are 42,069 DubCoin in existence, and no more will be created; this rewards early holders of DubCoin as more competitors register for tournaments. DubCoin can be broken into 18 decimal places, allowing for everyone to buy and use the gaming currency. The DubCoin Economy is relatively 'laissez-faire', putting the power in the holders.

Allocation of Funds

Raised funds are going to be allocated towards 4 main things:

1. Designing and maintaining a viable platform where users can buy, sell, and register for DubCoin Tournaments.
2. Purchasing and maintaining of property within the metaverse to be able to host virtual events and gatherings for DubCoin holders.
3. Keeping the DubCoin team up to date with passionate individuals who work towards the growth and development of the DubCoin Platform and Community.
4. Overall, keep you winning!
